

GENIUS X & X PRO

Genius X is an anti-decubitus cushion designed for the patient who needs daily comfort and prevention in a sitting position. It is composed of a semi-rigid base made of medium-density foam and ischial housing made of Sunmate. The upper surface is made of special airbreathable fabric with excellent breathability and pressure absorption properties. Available in PRO version with shaped base for the user who also requires alignment and complete covering in Sunmate.

Comfort and prevention

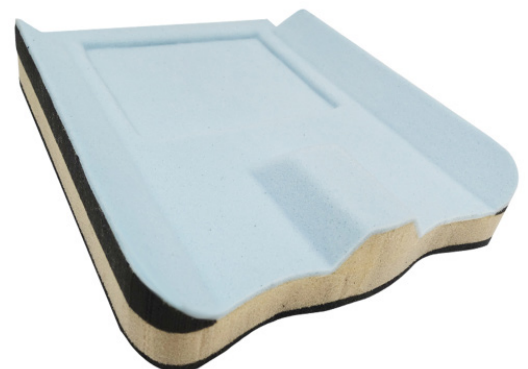

The anatomical flat base facilitates transfers, while the ischial support relieves the pressure caused by long periods of sitting.

Custom made

Genius x is the right compromise between lightness and prevention. Starting from standard configurations, it is also possible to create customised measurements for special situations such as dysmetria.

Genius X PRO

The contoured anatomical base promotes pelvic stability and alignment. The ischial insert provides significant pressure relief, increasing the cushion's use time. The SUNMATE cover offers a high degree of prevention for decubitus and skin injuries.
